Sustainability

From product development to sales

R&D is the key department and added value of Antaar&s:

- it evaluates and analyzes trends in new markets and products;
- it develops recipes and products;
- it selects the best ingredients.

Precise and continuous quality control of:

- ingredients (all supplied ingredients are analyzed);
- packaging materials;
- finished products (during production and before shipment);
- over 6,000 analyses per year.

Production: high production capacity and flexibility are ensured.

Our company stands out in the ready meals market thanks to a strong commitment to innovation and sustainability, offering high-quality products that meet the needs of modern consumers.

Quality and sustainability

We carefully select high-quality raw ingredients and work with certified suppliers to ensure traceability, reliability, and full regulatory compliance.

Clean label

No palm oil: by avoiding the use of palm oil, we aim to reduce environmental impact and contribute to the protection of natural ecosystems.

No additives, no frying: our products are made without additives and without frying, helping to preserve the natural characteristics of the ingredients and support consumer well-being.

Production process

Freeze-drying is a modern and safe preservation technique that removes water at low temperatures, maintaining flavor and nutritional value without the use of preservatives.

Recyclable packaging

By using recyclable packaging for both our pouches and cups, we contribute positively to our planet's health.

Food Safety Technologies

Modern equipment and quality standards.

Our four production lines, three dedicated to pouches and one to cups, are equipped with state-of-the-art machinery to ensure food safety and quality control throughout the entire production process.

Production capacity:

- 30 million pouches
- 10 million cups
- 45 employees
